

Executive Summary

LuxuryApartments.com is a SaaS marketplace redefining how high-net-worth individuals find and lease luxury apartments. While platforms like Zillow or Realtor.com serve the mass market, they fail to meet the expectations of tenants and brokers dealing in $5,000+/month rentals. That's where we come in.

We're building the first premium, end-to-end platform exclusively focused on the luxury rental segment - offering curated listings, immersive media, AI-matched recommendations, and concierge support. On the backend, landlords and brokers gain access to performance analytics, premium placement, and qualified leads that convert faster and at higher value.

The U.S. luxury rental market is booming - over $12B annually - yet lacks digital platforms designed for its clientele. We're targeting 1.5M affluent renters in top-tier cities, and aim to capture this underserved market with a scalable, high-margin SaaS business model.

We are raising $350K to fund platform completion, customer acquisition, and early team hires. This capital will take us from MVP to early revenue, with a clear path to $1M ARR and strategic exit opportunities.

Market Opportunity

The U.S. luxury rental market is booming - but underserved online.

High-net-worth individuals (HNWIs) are increasingly choosing to rent, especially in urban centers like New York, Los Angeles, Miami, and San Francisco. Yet platforms serving this market remain fragmented, generic, or outdated.

Key Market Stats:

- $12B+ annual market size for luxury rentals in the U.S.
- 1.5M+ affluent renters in major cities
- 500M+ served market in online luxury real estate listings
- 6.5% projected CAGR through 2026

LuxuryApartments.com is designed to directly serve this gap with a premium, targeted solution.
